

Winnipeg Construction Association Presents An Information Session on

Group Critical Illness Insurance

Wouldn't it be great to hand over a tax free cheque for $25,000 to an employee who is recovering from a heart attack or cancer and is facing the financial burden of unexpected expenses?

AQ Group Solutions can help... Tuesday, November 20, 2007

Join us for an information session that you can't afford to miss. Learn about a product that you can offer your existing employees and attract new ones with. It is called Group Critical Illness Insurance and is being offered to you as a member of the Winnipeg Construction Association.

- Tax deductible expense to the business owner
- No medical required
- No mandatory enrollment

Possible employee paid benefit

Most of us know someone who's been diagnosed with or suffered from a critical illness. The effects, as we know, can be far-reaching – worry, treatments, time away from work and the financial burden of unexpected expenses. For employees, facing a serious illness is no time to learn there may be associated costs that do not qualify for coverage under provincial or employer health care plans.
